

YOUR MILITARY STATUS MAY ENTITLE YOU TO SPECIAL RIGHTS AND PROTECTIONS

If you are involved in a legal case, letting the judge know about your military service may enable the court to consider special benefits and protections for you. Some examples of potential benefits include:

- Consideration for alternative sentencing and restorative relief
- Diversion in misdemeanor cases
- Additional time in family law cases

To inform the court about your military service, you can fill out an optional Military Status Form (MIL-100). You, your attorney, family member, friend, or advocate can fill out this form if you:

- Are a current or former military member
- Are in the reserves or National Guard
- Have combat service or no combat service
- Have an honorable or dishonorable discharge

You can submit your completed MIL-100 form to the clerk, judge, or your attorney, at any point during your case.

For more information and to access the MIL-100 form, search “California Courts MIL-100,” from your browser.

ABOUT THE STATE BAR OF CALIFORNIA

Created by the Legislature in 1927, the State Bar is an administrative arm of the California Supreme Court. Its mission is to serve the people of California through careful oversight of the legal profession. The State Bar’s primary functions are:

- Licensing the 250,000 attorneys in California
- Regulating the profession and practice of law
- Enforcing the Rules of Professional Conduct and State Bar Act for attorneys
- Disciplining attorneys who violate rules and laws
- Administering the California Bar Exam
- Advancing access to justice
- Promoting diversity and inclusion in the legal system

The State Bar cannot represent clients or refer them to a particular attorney. If you need an attorney, contact a lawyer referral service in your community.

Legal Services for Those Who Serve or Have Served in the Military

FOR THOSE WHO SERVE OR HAVE SERVED IN THE MILITARY

California is home to the largest population of veterans in the United States, with more than 1.7 million known veterans in residence. California is also home to the largest number of active military service members, with more than 180,000 living in the state.

If you serve or have served in the military and need legal assistance, this pamphlet can help you navigate the network of organizations and services available to you and your family. These include legal services to help you with housing or homelessness, consumer fraud, wills and probate, employment, or other legal issues. Also included is information about Veterans Treatment Courts and special rights, and protections you may receive as a service member or veteran in California Courts.

While the State Bar cannot represent clients or refer you to a particular attorney, it can connect you with a certified lawyer referral service in your community.

If you are unable to pay for legal services, you may be eligible for low-cost or free (pro bono) legal assistance through the organizations listed in this pamphlet.

LEGAL ASSISTANCE FOR THOSE WHO SERVE OR HAVE SERVED IN THE MILITARY

FOR ACTIVE SERVICE MEMBERS

If you are an active service member and you need legal help, a good place to start is with an armed forces legal assistance office. These offices are set up to serve your needs. You can use the Armed Forces Legal Assistance Online Locator: legalassistance.law.af.mil.

These offices can help you apply for benefits available through the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, a federal law that provides safeguards to members on active duty status in the area of financial management, including rental agreements, security deposits, evictions, installment contracts, credit card interest rates, mortgages, civil judicial proceedings, income tax payments, and more.

Those serving in California Military Departments, including the California National Guard, may contact the Legal Support Command: www.ca-jag.us.

system partners. The program cannot provide legal services but can refer you to legal assistance organizations in your community.
